[Son of Thomas and Sarah (Sittser) Barnes]

Another Pioneer Dead:

David Barnes a pioneer of Jackson County, died at his home in Horton April 6, 1895, aged 68 years, 11 months, and 3 days.

Deceased was born May 3, 1826, at Mentz, Cayuga County, New York. He came to Michigan with his parents when 17 years of age and settled in Summitt Township. He moved to Tompkins, in same county, in [1841?] and from there to Jackson a few years later where he held a position as guard and keeper at the state prison for 7 years.

He moved to Hanover Township in 1874, where he lived until he moved to Horton in 1891. With the exception of one year in Moscow he has resided in Jackson County since coming to Michigan.

Was married to Arvilla Fields in 1848. Two children were born to them: Murvin who died at 4 years of age, and Donzetta, wife of C. W. Harris of Moscow, Hillsdale County. This union was broken by the death of wife in 1856. He was married to Mary Hood, of Moscow, in 1860, who survives him together with the six. children of their union; Martin, Fred, Jennie, Thomas, William, and David, all of this vicinity.

Words are but weak things to employ in portraying the character of the deceased. The writer of this sketch was intimately acquainted with him for nine years, and we knew him to be a manly man, a kind husband, an indulgent father, and as a neighbor generous to a fault. His influence was for good and he was respected by all.

The funeral was held at the Horton Church April 9th, Rev. W. L. Gibbs officiating, and his remains were placed in Jackson Cemetery.” [Interred at Mt. Evergreen Cemetery, Jackson, MI.]

CARD OF THANKS

Horace Barnes

Clyde (Wayne Co., NY) Times
newspaper dated November 8, 1877

[Died in November 1877; son of Aaron and Martha (Eggleston) Barnes]

HORACE BARNES

In our columns to-day we chronicle the death of another one of those who helped to clear away the primeval forests of this our flourishing town, and make the wilderness bloom. Horace Barnes had been an occupant of the farm upon which he died 48 years, and was the oldest settler, as we remember, of that region where he lived. He was born in Sharon, Conn., in 1804. At the age of 12, his father and a brother moved their families to Mentz, Cayuga Co., where they took up a considerable portion of land, which was finally divided among their children. At 25, Horace came to Butler, Wayne Co., and married Sarah Tucker, the eldest daughter of Dr. Benj. Tucker, of that town, he immediately after purchased the farm from which he has recently been borne to his long home. It may be said of him as of many of those who laid the foundation upon which others of us have built, he was strictly honest and upright, shunning all forms of immorality. He had a profound respect for religion, and ever sought to protect the good while he denounced evil. May the places of these veterans be filled by men as worthy. [Horace was buried in Maple Grove Cemetery at Clyde, Wayne County, NY.]

Calvin Hall Bliss, Sr.

Clyde, New York's Clyde Times newspaper, dated
April 30, 1891

[Son of Colonel Samuel and Anna (Mason) Bliss]

Death of a Former Resident.

Hon. Calvin H. Bliss, a former well-known resident of Galen, died at his home, near Farmville, Prince Edward Co., Va, Monday, April 27th, in his 89th year. His death was caused from paralysis, he having suffered a stroke the Wednesday previous. Mr. Bliss was born in Vermont, in 1802. He came to Galen from Schoharie County, N.Y., in 1833, and was a resident of this town for thirty-six years, owning and occupying the David S. Finch farm, four miles northeast of Clyde—which he sold to Mr. Finch. In June, 1869, he removed to Prince Edward County, Va., where he had since resided. Mr. Bliss was known as an active and prominent citizen in that locality, and for four terms represented his district as State Senator in the Virginia Legislature. He was twice married, his first wife being Seraph Bothwell, by whom he had five children, all of whom are living, viz.: Mrs. Susan E. Kelsey, of Galen; Samuel H. Bliss, of Farmville, Va.; John B. Bliss and Mrs. Mary S. Williams, of Tekonsha, Mich.; Sidney E. Bliss, of Albion, Mich. His second wife was Mrs. Louisa T. West, by whom he had four children, three of whom are living, viz.: Misses E. Louisa and Carrie H. Bliss, (at the homestead,) and Calvin H. Bliss, Jr., of Farmville, Va. Mrs. M. J. Crowell, of Clyde, was the daughter of his second wife, by a former husband.

OBITUARY NOTE: Most accounts state Calvin was born in Galway, Saratoga Co., NY, whereas his obituary states he was born in Vermont. Calvin's second wife Louisa was born in Vermont, which is perhaps how that state got added to the mix. Also, at least one of Calvin's siblings was born in Vermont as discussed below. At minimum, Calvin indicated "NY" as his place of birth on every census from 1850 until 1880. His wife Louisa claimed she was born in VT in two of those census years, only making it a ditto mark under "NY" in the one for 1860. Their son Calvin H., Jr. apparently got it backwards when he claimed his father was born in VT and mother born in NY in the 1900 census. The only of Calvin Hall Bliss, Sr.'s eight siblings known to have been born in VT was Nathaniel Franklin Bliss, who was born in Pownal, Bennington Co., VT, in 1808.

MISS CARRIE E. BLISS; Retired Teacher Passes at 90 Years of Age-Burial Made at Clyde

Miss Carrie E. Bliss, for two decades teacher of drawing and science in the Wolcott high school, died last Saturday [s/b Friday] at the home of her niece, Mrs. Jesse Chatfield, in Butler, just four days short of 90 years of age.

Miss Bliss was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bliss, and was born in Clyde, April 24, 1846. She was educated there and in the National Normal school at Lebanon, O.

Meanwhile the family had removed to Virginia, whither Miss Bliss went in 1869, teaching there in private schools. In 1894 she came to Clyde and taught for two years in the Clyde high school, removing to Wolcott in 1896.

There she was a well-known figure in educational circles till she retired on a pension in 1916. Miss Bliss had almost encyclopedic information on so many subjects that she was a mine of information to her pupils. When asked where she acquired the facts, she frequently said, "I reckon I always knew that," probably not meaning to be taken literally, but that she had learned it casually and had forgotten when and where. Having a remarkable memory, she picked up miscellaneous information almost without effort.

Following her retirement, she fell and broke her hip twice, and was an invalid during the closing years of her long life. She was one of the three teachers made honorary members of the Leavenworth Alumni association.

Her body was taken to undertaking room in Clyde directly after her death, and then brought here on Monday afternoon, the funeral being held from St. Stephen's Episcopal church at 3 p.m., the Rev. William H. G. Lewis officiating. Interment was made at Clyde.

Miss Bliss will long be remembered by those brought in contact with her. She had an unusual and inspiring personality for all who...[last line in paragraph is unreadable].

Though coming from a large family, her nearest surviving relatives are nephews and nieces and their descendants, many of whom live in the vicinity of Clyde."

Obituary #1:

Mrs. Sidney Bliss

Last evening at six o'clock occurred the death of Mrs. Sidney Bliss at the home of her son, Charles, in Elm street, where Mr. and Mrs. Bliss had removed from their farm south of the city but a week ago. Mrs. Bliss had been ill with pneumonia for a short time. Mrs. Bliss is one of the older residents of this vicinity, having lived, prior to her removal to this city, for a number of years upon their farm south of the city. About 10 years ago Mr. Bliss built a house in this city in Elm street, where they resided until last spring, when they returned to their farm, leaving it again, as stated, a few days ago.

Her long residence here, her loving nature, her noble character and her consistent Christian life won for Mrs. Bliss a host of true friends, and her departure will be keenly felt by them. Besides her husband, four daughters and two sons are left to mourn her loss: Mrs. Mary Fergusson of Hanover; Mrs. Nellie Barnes of Chicago; Mrs. Susie Barnes of Sumner, Iowa; Mrs. Etta Kendrick of Ganges; Charles of this city and William. As we go to press arrangements for funeral services have not been made.

Sidney E. Bliss Albion Recorder, dated April 4, 1916

[Son of Calvin Hall and Seraph (Bothwell) Bliss]

Sidney E. Bliss was born at Clyde, New York, and died at his home, 107 West Elm street, Albion, Michigan, March 28, 1916. He was a son of Calvin H. Bliss and his wife Seraph Bothwell Bliss and was the great-grandson of Captain Samuel Bliss of Rehoboth, Mass., of Revolutionary fame. Capt. Bliss commanded a company of eight-day minutemen April 19-27, 1775, and afterwards (1775) a company of eight-months men in Col. Timothy Walker's regiment and was Gen. Washington's steward at Morristown in the winter of 1777. Mr. Bliss was married January 10, 1861, to Helen M. Hubbard.

In 1866 they came to Michigan, locating at Tekonsha, but the following year they moved to a farm three miles south of Albion, where he lived until 1884. In that year he moved to Albion, since which time he has made this city his home. He was by trade a carpenter, and worked at building more or less during the whole of his life.

His home life was especially happy until the death of his wife, March 20, 1901. Six children were born to them, all of whom are living: Mrs. Mary S. Buckman, Hanover; Charles S. Bliss, Albion; Wm. H. Bliss, Kansas City, Kansas; Mrs. Susan E. Barnes, Duluth; Mrs. Etta M. Kendrick, Traverse City; Mrs. Nellie M. Barnes, Chicago. There are also eleven grandchildren.

Since the death of his wife, his son Charles has lived in the family home on West Elm street, and he had made his home there, although he [Sidney] had spent part of his time with his other children.

He was converted in 1879 in a revival held in the Babcock schoolhouse by Rev. Uri Mason, and was baptized in the river which ran through his farm. He joined the M. E. Church in Albion at that time and has since been a regular attendant and faithful member.

While he lived on the farm he not only attended the church in town but also took student preachers home with him for the service at the schoolhouse in the afternoon.

He has been a man of clean personal habits, a devoted husband and father, a citizen who could always be counted on to throw his influence on the side of right, and a humble yet devoted Christian.

Four of his eight brothers and sisters are left to mourn his departure. They are: John B. Bliss, Marshall; Mrs. Mary S. Williams, Tekonsha; Miss Carrie H. Bliss, Wolcott, N.Y.; and C. H. Bliss, Farmville, Va.

The funeral service was conducted Sunday, April 2, at 2 p.m., by the Methodist pastor, Rev. A. R. Johns, D. D., at the family home, and the body was laid to rest at Riverside cemetery.

GALESBURG

May 3—Mrs. S. Carney, a pioneer lady of the town of Climax, passed through the obscurities of death on the 29th of April, aged about 63 years. An event more sad in its nature has seldom occurred among the citizens of Climax. Mrs. Carney was especially distinguished as a lucid and particular star in the social circle, and her exceptional deportment has won the warmest affections of genial associates. The fatal issue of the disease, the progress of which they have anxiously and with sorrow watched, is a severe blow and a lasting gloom. The last sad rites were paid to the deceased on the 1st day of May, Rev. Sprague officiating. A large concourse of friends and neighbors followed her remains to their final resting in a garden bed in the cemetery. All had learned to adore that esteemed lady, who was exemplary in all of her developments.

Sarah M. (Keyes) Page Cline The Scotts portion of the Climax (Kalamazoo Co., MI) Cereal newspaper,
dated June 15, 1911,

[Daughter of Rev. Orlando and Lucinda (Shook) Keyes, wife of Harvey Olmstead Cline]

Sarah M., daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Orlando Keyes, was born in Climax township, Kalamazoo county, Michigan, and died Monday June 5, 1911, from the effect of an operation. [Per death certificate, she died Sunday June 4, 1911.]

The deceased was married to Harvey O. Cline 22 years ago. Most of their married life was spent at Lansing, their late home.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, one son, Charles Page of Battle Creek, by her first husband; also her sons Frank and Glenn Cline of Lansing; an aged mother, Mrs. Lucinda Keyes; one sister Mrs. Irena Powers both of Scotts, one brother, Lyman E. Keyes of Clinton, Missouri, four grand children, Margaret and Howard Page of Battle Creek, Wilma and Glenn Franklin Cline of Lansing and a host of friends.

Mrs. Cline's father, Rev. Orlando Keyes, Chaplin of the 12th Michigan Vet. Volunteers, died when she was a child leaving her together with five brothers and sisters in her mother's care. From that time on Mrs. Cline has struggled with the problems of the world and owing to her diligence and an inherited ingenuity it can be truthfully said she has won success to a marked degree. To her there was no such word as "fail." Nearly all her life has been spent in Michigan except nine years when she operated a millinery store in Angola, Indiana. In business she was very successful owing to her pleasing manners and adaptability in solving the problems at hand.

Mrs. Cline possessed many marked traits of character that will long be cherished and held in memory and respect by her many friends. As a wife she was all that even the most exacting could expect and her husband says "The very best is none too good for Mrs. Cline for she richly deserves it."

As a mother she was perfect--none could better fill the place. As a daughter she was ever dutiful and mindful of her mother's welfare and happiness, as a sister she was kind and loving and will be greatly missed.

During the time Mr. Cline was sheriff of Ingham Co. Mrs. Cline won the respect and admiration of all who came in touch with her position. To the two thousand prisoners who came under her care she was a true adviser and many a wayward one has been led to reform due to her kindness and motherly advice.

Mrs. Cline will be greatly missed by her sister members of the Lady Maccabees, Royal Neighbors of America and Rebekahs, of which orders she was a prominent member. It has been said "All is for the best," but for those left behind it is so hard to comprehend.

Let us think of her as simply “at rest.” We do not believe that death can possibly be the end.

The following elegy was written in Sarah’s memory by Mrs. Abbie Adams, Scotts, and also appeared in the newspaper:

She is not dead, neither is she sleeping. The gentle soul we loved and cherished is ever, its loving vigil keeping, and in God’s care, it cannot perish.

The form lying here so cold and quiet, was only the transient earthly dwelling to shield the soul from winds that riot and storms which swept her soul in telling. Her life has been one long bitter struggle. Her early dreams and ideals shattered, her pathway seemed ever so rough and rugged. At times, her soul, lay bruised and battered. Out from the storms, she would rise undaunted. With smiling face, her burden she carried, with never the blessing of all that she wanted. With hope deferred, her spirit was harried. She would not be crushed by storm or tempest, but bravely strove, her fate to alter. And though we shall feel, that death has bereft us, let us learn from her to never falter.

Ever a helpful and kindly neighbor, her smiling face was always welcome. Her hand was ready to help them labor. Her absent face will leave a vacuum.

A loving wife and a tender mother, has left a husband sad and grieving. And to the sons there’ll ne’er be another to fill the place, she now is leaving. Her aged mother, who still survives her, will look upon her form with sorrow, but soon she’ll walk in peace beside her, and learn the mystery on the morrow. For the veil which screens the mystic portal by unseen hands will then be lifted. Their spirit freed from all that mortal may soar to heights where clouds are rifted.

The brother and sister, too, who loved her, will for a time, walk in the shadows, but the courage and spirit which moved her will lead them into flowing meadows. To the host of other friends who linger, and o’er the mystic problem wonder, to you she’d point a beckoning finger to the rift in the clouds up yonder.

* 40 & 8 Voiture:

“More popularly known as the ‘Forty and Eight,’ [it is] an independent Veterans organization whose membership is drawn solely from the ranks of American Legionnaires in good standing. [It was] founded in 1920 as a fun and honor society of Legionnaires and draw [its] origin from World War I when young Americans were transported on the narrow gauge railroads of France in boxcars (Voitures) that carried little more than half the capacity of American boxcars. On each side of these boxcars was stenciled the capacity of each. Holding either forty men or eight horses, these Voitures became the trademark of the organization. If you could laugh at the train ride from the coast of France to the trenches crowded in these little boxcars only recently vacated by eight horses, you could surely adapt to the changes in life when returning home. Membership in the Forty and Eight is by invitation only to Legionnaires who have demonstrated their service to the American Legion and/or its programs.”

Margaret Frances (Page) Foster

(a few notes)

[Born August 1, 1904, in Jackson, Jackson Co., MI; died September 22, 1937, 6 PM at Mercy Hospital in Jackson; daughter of Charles Orlando and Maude Annabelle (Castner) Page]

Margaret was also called Peg, Peggy, Bonnie and Maggie.

From a 1993 letter by Howard O. Paige:

“Margaret was a very talented person in the direction of music and was meticulous in everything she did. Mom taught her to sew, and as she wore a dress to work at her Consumers Power Co. bookkeeping job, she would come home and alter the same dress so that the next day it would appear as a new dress. She and Mom spent considerable money training her beautiful soprano voice. She sang lead soprano in the choir of the First Methodist Church in Jackson, and Mom sang lead in the alto section. Margaret played the piano well and while practicing voice she played her own accompaniment. Many of the melodies she played so often still surface in my memory when I am in the musical mood.”

From “936 S. Jackson St.,” part of Howard O. Paige’s 1994 auto-biography:

“Grandma Franc and Uncle Harry were Christmas regulars. My sister, Margaret, took pictures with an exploding powder, usually catching everyone with their eyes staring wide open.

“A fun thing got started when one Christmas someone received a fruit-cake about 5 inches cubed. But it quickly disappeared not to be seen again until someone received it the following Christmas and this went on for near 20 years. When last seen it was about 3 inches cubed and hard as a brick. No one knows how come it disappeared. Grandma Franc, Maudie and Margaret were all under suspicion.”

From “Marshal Harvey Page,” part of Howard O. Paige’s 1994 auto-biography:
Marshal “later played the trumpet and to some extent the piano. He had a good singing voice and with Margaret’s husband Fred sang with the police quartet in Jackson.”

From “The Interim School Years,” part of Howard O. Paige’s 1994 auto-biography:
“...My sister, Margaret, loved to go out and help with the [paper] route on heavy days and once or twice a week she would go along. We could whistle from one street to the next and know all was well....”

Margaret “had a job in the bookkeeping department at Consumers and was able to get me a part time job printing electric bills on an Addressograph.”

From “Musical Interlude (age 17 to ?),” part of Howard O. Paige’s 1994 auto-biography:
“When Consumers had completed their new building in 1927, there were two floors not occupied and they decided to put on a carnival with each department furnishing a booth with a plan of their own and a prize was offered for the best show. We put on a Hawaiian show. My sister, Margaret, along with Margaret Meyers, put on grass skirts and did the dancing while Chuck Reilly from the Credit Dept. played the guitar and Margaret played the ukulele and I played my small accordion. Don’t know who won prizes but our show drew lots of customers.”

From a 1993 letter by Howard O. Paige:
Margaret’s “natural beauty brought her a supply of suitors. It was in the development and rendition of the theater play “The Student Prince” that she met and worked with the leading man, Fred Foster, whom she later married. Fred was working on the police force as a detective. Their first born, named “Bonniebelle,” was stillborn [1935] and the doctor warned her not to have any more, but they went ahead anyway, wanting children at any cost. Sure enough, both she and the baby [Fredericka] died in Sept. 1937. I believe she requested her ashes be scattered on the lawn of their home on Morrice St. [South Maurice Avenue], Vandercook Lake. The blending of Margaret’s and Fred’s voices as they sang together is well recorded among my richest musical memories. Fred was one of the founders of the Quartet Organization with a catchy name like “Society for the Preservation of Quartet Singers in America” (or something similar).”

[Fred had a great sense of humor. In Marshal and Esther Page’s old outhouse was a series of close-up pictures taken of Fred’s face making expressions of surprise and shock, staring at the person sitting on the toilet. Fred went on to marry Rose Marie McCully of Jackson and they had five children. He died of cancer in June of 1963 having survived Rose by nearly two years.]

Charlene's Obituary and a eulogy by her sister

1930 – 2019

Charlene Frances Paige Garrett, age 89, arrived at her Heavenly home on July 17, 2019, with her family by her side. Charlene was born April 13, 1930, in Jackson, Michigan, to the late Howard and Jennie (Barnes) Paige. She grew up in Flint and Saginaw and graduated from Arthur Hill High School. While attending Ames Methodist Church, she met her future husband, Robert Page Garrett. They married on June 9, 1951, while she was attending Asbury College. They were married for 64 years until Robert "The Rev" passed in 2016. Together, they raised four children, served 12 churches, visited the ill and homebound, sang in church choirs, acted in numerous plays with the Port Austin Community Players, and supported each other as a team. Charlene was also very well known in the community as an Avon representative, team leader, President's Club member and manager. Charlene loved following Jesus' call to serve through writing poetry, baking, being kind and always smiling. She was also proud of having taught a young man in junior high how to read. Charlene loved spending time with her family, including her four children, their spouses, grandchildren and great grandchildren. She enjoyed playing Skip-Bo, Scrabble and other games, eating ice cream, going to the beach and watching sunsets. Charlene will be greatly missed by her children Robert (Paula) Garrett Jr., Sue (David) Johnston, Connie (Ken) Smeader, Laura (Dennis) Hill; grandchildren Kelli Garrett, Dr. Mallory Garrett, Allison (Andrew) Carson, Adam Garrett, Megan (James) Clause, Alycia Johnston, Joshua (Jessica) Smeader, Shannon (Jermaine) Morris, Ryan (Bethany) Smeader, Jason (Alexandra) Hill, Bryan (Melissa) Hill, Robyn (Eddie Jr.) Williams; 13 great-grandchildren; three siblings, R. Charlene Frances Paige Garrett, my sister
By Mary Louise Paige West

August 9, 2019

When I was a very little girl, Charlene was extremely important to me, especially when we moved to Jackson. She was 19, away from Bob, who was a student at Asbury College in Kentucky, and away from her friends in Saginaw, and I was 4. Having her there must have been vital to Mom, with an 8 year-old Downs Syndrome daughter, a 4 year-old, and a baby boy! I am thinking that, in those days, she was more a “go to” person for me than Mom. And definitely the “go to” person for Mom!

My early memories come through Charlene. She and I walked to the Ganson Street Baptist Church for their Wednesday night Prayer Meeting. She remembered that that is where I took Jesus into my heart. (I had to be reminded!)

After she and Bob married and moved to Kentucky, I spent a little time with them, when I was 6 or 7 years old. She told me that on the way down, we stopped for gas and a bottle of pop. The story goes that I asked for a beer and kind of pitched a fit when I was denied one. Quite an embarrassment for a young pastor and his wife, especially in a dry county! I think this, and a few other incidents, helped to prepare them for parenting the four children that later spiced up their lives!

Another time I was visiting them (imagine that! They invited me again!) when they lived in Hillman MI. They were still young, but now with a baby boy, Robert Jr. There was an open space across the street from their parsonage, and the story goes, that I went over there with some neighborhood kids. Somewhere, on a building, I suppose, was a word I had never seen or heard: F-blank-blank-blank. I thought it was a funny-sounding word, and asked Charlene what it meant. She didn't tell me, but rather, told me I must NEVER say it again! Probably the wrong thing to say to a 12 year-old (or so), because I went on to say it many times, as a chant! Many times, but only in front of her! She didn't deserve that! (Oh, my. Sorry, Charlene!)

As her family grew, she was busy with them, but I was always there with them for a period of time in the summers. (How very gracious of them!) I don't recall babysitting, which might have made sense, considering the age difference between them and me. (I was 11 when Bobby was born, and 17 by the time Laura came along!)

My summers with them in Saugatuck MI were pure magic! I hung out with Eileen Herbert, going to the Oval Beach on Lake Michigan, and walking around, and eating cherry sundaes. My boyfriend (summer love!) was Donny Ekdahl. (Think Rob West and Tom Cruise.) I don't know how long they lived there, but long enough to live in two different houses, I know. I think Sue and Connie were born there. In the second house, I hung out with their across-the-street neighbors' granddaughter, Carrie Snodgrass, who became a movie star. Whenever I smell Ivory Liquid, I think of my time at that house in Saugatuck.

When they lived in Saginaw, my visits were longer, as I got summer jobs there. One summer I worked on a playground (thanks to the parents of my “summer love, George Pike, Jr.”), and I also worked at a diner, as a waitress. Then, for another summer, I worked at Michigan Bell (thanks to my brother, Bud), and spent part of the time with Char’s family, and part of the time with Bud’s.

After I was married, my times with Char usually happened at Mom’s, often at holidays, and always amidst a flurry of activities. But always fun. Charlene and I always managed to get away for a nice, long, walk-and-talk! These times are so precious to me now, as I was often caught up in my “intellect” about “God-things.” She was one person I could talk to (my sister-in-law Elaine was the other.) Her faith was so strong, and to this day, I can summarize my own faith in the simple (and deeply profound) song, “Jesus loves me, this I know, for the Bible tells me so. Little ones to Him belong. We are weak, but He is strong...” I am quite certain that I learned it from Charlene. I can picture her playing it on the piano and singing it with me! She loved Jesus so much, and she taught me to love Him, too. And to love and trust God, through Jesus.

As an adult, with a job and kids of my own, our times together were fewer and further between, but at least a couple times a year. Once the kids were older, I was able to go to Jackson in the spring, on my own, to see Mom and get her gardens ready for summer. Char would come, too, and the three of us had some very special times together. I remember one morning, in particular, when the three of us were sitting in Mom’s living room, having our morning coffee (I think Char and I had cocoa in ours!), all making our “lists” for the day! I thought it was hilarious: we were definitely “3 peas in a pod!”

Another time I had brought a bunch of hats that Rob had used in a planning meeting to help people relax. We had so much fun trying them on and laughing at each other. I have a picture of Mom wearing the straw hat that hung by her back door to hide the key to her house. I loved seeing her laugh!

I have lots of pictures of the trip that Charlene and Mom and I took to California to spend a week or so with Charlie! That was indeed one for the books. The most vivid memory of that time was when, at Disneyland, the three of us went into a restroom, and Mom and Char changed places: Char sat in the wheelchair, and put on Mom’s breeze bonnet, and Mom pushed her out. This of course, was for Charlie’s benefit, and he gifted us with a hearty guffah!!! Weren’t we just hilarious!

Charlene and Bob were so faithful about driving down to see Mom. They came 150 miles or so every couple of weeks to take her out to lunch, to see a movie, to visit friends and relatives. What a gift! Since Mom didn’t drive, these were the only times she could visit her “folks”, other than when Charlie or I would visit. It meant so much to her!

Charlene and I definitely had a “heart connection” that went beyond “just” being sisters. We pretty much grew up in “different families” due to our age difference, so we never had to compete for attention. In fact, we would laugh about the fact that we had different parents. Hers were young and in love, embarrassingly open with their affection. My parents were older, their lives complicated by having a special-needs child and two younger ones. Charlene and I would decide that my mother loved me more, because I rarely had to do dishes or cook! In retrospect, I suspect these were Mom's only chances to be alone!!!

When all is said and done, I know that I am a very fortunate person to have had Charlene for a sister! She gifted me with memories of laughter and unconditional, extravagant love.

RANDOM THOUGHTS ABOUT BOB GARRETT

The following is a write-up attached to an email sent out Friday March 25, 2016, by Mary West. / C.W. Paige

Bob has been in my life for as long as I remember.

Since we moved to Jackson when I was four years old, my memories of Bob started when we lived in Jackson, and he was a guest as often as he could be, since he was a college student in Kentucky. But I knew that when he visited, it made Charlene very happy, and he was always kind and fun.

One thing that always impressed me about Bob was his ability to persuade Margaret to do what was needed. He could always charm and tease her into cooperating. His affection for her was very evident.

As Mom grew older, he and Charlene were extremely loyal about coming to see her every couple of weeks. They would take her out to do errands, for lunch or dinner, and often to see a movie. In the summer there was often a visit to the Cascades and "Loud's". Bob was always happy to be doing this, and loved teasing Mom, and helping her to see the lighter side of things!

As Charlene's younger sister, I always felt respected by Bob (except for the time he put bubblegum in my hair!) But he always welcomed me to spend a couple of weeks in the summer with their family. I have very fond memories of those times, especially the summers in Saugatuck, which introduced me to the Great Lakes and big water. Cherry sundaes play a large part in my memory bank of Saugatuck! And, for some reason, the scent of Ivory Liquid dish soap puts me in mind of their home there!

Charlene and Bob modeled for me what a healthy and happy marriage look like. Their mutual respect and ability to laugh and take things in stride have helped me in our own marriage. That they enjoyed being together and doing things together, was very evident.

It breaks my heart that his most recent years have been so difficult, after all the love and beauty that he brought to life. I know, however, that his reward awaited him, and that he is safe and comfortable in Jesus' loving arms. And I thank God that Bob was in our life. He brought strength and stability to our family, in ways that I am only now understanding. God was very good to us, through Bob."

Lyman Eugene Keyes

<http://www.rootsweb.com/~moheny/obituary/k02obit.htm>

[Son of Rev. Orlando and Lucinda (Shook) Keyes]

KEYES, Lyman Eugene - 1849 - 1938

Clinton MO - L. E. Keyes, old and respected citizen of Clinton, veteran in the milling business, died at 2:15 a.m. January 28, 1938, at the home of his son Dean W. Keyes, South Orchard street, where he had made his home the past year. Years had met over Mr. Keyes, bringing many changes, but the force of character, the splendid constitution, the Christianity in his heart remained undaunted and even to the end he waited on himself and was up the evening before his passing. He never was ready to give up, never admitted the toll of advancing years, and to the end, looked for a brighter future for himself and his - an indomitable figure that will long be remembered by friends and associates. Lyman Eugene Keyes was born November 15, 1849, at Pekin, Niagara County, New York, the son of a Methodist minister who died while chaplain in the Union Army of camp fever. From his father he inherited his love of the Union and his Christian faith and the early training in hard and honest toil that were his chief assets in later life. February 3, 1875, Miss Clara Jane Dean of Pavillion, Mich., became his bride and four sons were given them, two of whom survive and two deceased, Harry Clayton, passing in 1908 and L. W. or "Babe" Keyes, as he was fondly known, dying in 1936, the same year of his mother's death. Mr. Keyes came to Clinton in 1891 from Rolla, Mo., where the White Swan Mills were located and by whom he was employed as a "cooper". The mills were moved to Clinton and Mr. Keyes, expert in his line, continued as their barrel maker - a trade taught him by his father in Michigan in the days when hoop and staves were cut from the trees by the "cooper" with his rude implements. Mr. Keyes continued as a cooper for the White Swan Mills until he became manager for Chas. Wunderlick, who had obtained the contract for furnishing all of the barrels used in Clinton. Those were the days when the barrels were made by hand. The logs, cut into proper lengths, were split with knives and then fitted into the 1 1/4 inch thick hickory hoops at one end, then with rope and windlass the other end was drawn into hits hoops to get them ready for the “bucking frame”. The barrel was then put over a small stove, cylindrical in shape with a grate at the bottom and a return flue that heated the wood until every particle of moisture was dried out and the shape was wet. Each barrel was held with five hickory bands at each end, made to hold, and fitted with the grooved heads that stuck tight, designed to carry 196 lbs each of flour, shipped often to England, France and Germany. There was real art in being a “cooper” and there was no one more skilled at his job than Mr. Keyes, who also found real pleasure in doing it. Later Mr. Keyes and his partner, Wunderlick, bought the Kracke Company, operating it until it was destroyed by fire when they bought the old W. E. Foote property at Washington and Ohio streets where the Mann elevator is today and built that feed center, operating until the depression of 1929. Years and poor health interrupted his ambitions and for a year he operated a poultry feed house on the west side of the square and for a time was associated with his son W. D. Keyes, in the milling business at the corner of Grand River and Carter streets. Mr. Keyes had a fine mind and a concise and clear picture of the grain market and its trend, a knowledge of the farmer and his problems and many conditions that would have amazed authorities. His work was his hobby throughout life, his thoughts and efforts were all for his family and their welfare, and he bent his hopes to the planning and building of industrial businesses. Kindly, good, a member of the First M. E. Church, cheerful and ambitious, he lived a clean, fine life, knew love and happiness and bore his share of burdens - true preparation for the sunshine of Eternity! Two sons, Dean W. of Clinton, and Paul Charles of Boonville; who, with his wife, was in Clinton for the funeral, survive their father, also five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. The last rites were conducted by Rev. A. S. Olsen at 2:30 Saturday at the First M. E. Church and interment was in Englewood beside his wife. Pallbearers were Leo Fellhauer, Frank Wilson, E. W. Ritchey, Will and Ben Rentchler and W. M. Kemper.

Burial: Englewood Cemetery, Clinton Twp., Henry Co., MO.

Lyman Wilbur “Babe” Keyes <http://www.rootsweb.com/~moheny/obituary/k02obit.htm>

[Died April 27, 1936; son of Lyman Eugene and Clara Jane (Dean) Keyes]

KEYES, Lyman Wilbur “Babe” - 1885 - 1936

Clinton MO - Babe Keys Dies Suddenly - Well Known Clinton Man Succumbs To Attack Of Heart Trouble At Home - Babe Keyes, as he was generally known to friends, succumbed to an attack of heart trouble at 5:30 Monday morning at his home, 412 South McLane Street. He did not feel well Sunday but took a drive in the afternoon and went to bed as usual to wake about 2 a.m. feeling ill. His wife administered to him and he apparently slept but after five Mrs. Keyes awoke to hear her husband making a strange noise and before doctors or friends could be summoned, life had escaped its human dwelling place and that good husband, kind father, fine son and devoted brothers, Babe Keyes, had slipped into his eternal sleep. Lyman Wilbur Keyes was born at Rolla, Mo., October 30, 1885, the son of Lyman Eugene Keyes and Clara Dean Keyes. He came with his parents to Clinton in 1891. Mr. Keyes was educated in the Clinton schools, then helped his father run the Keyes Mill on Washington street. This mill burned in 1916 and he and his father rebuilt their business that same year and established the mill at the corner of Washington and Ohio streets, which was one of the well known Clinton business institutions for many years. After closing the mill, Babe and his father for a short time ran a feed store on the west side of the square in one of the Britts buildings, now occupied by Lewis's. Two years ago L. E. Keyes retired from business and Babe went to work for Larabee Mills, where he has been employed the larger part of the last two years then his health permitted, as he had not been well during that time. March 4, 1909, he and Miss Nellie L. Raney were united in marriage by Rev. Gaither of the First M. E. Church at the parsonage. One daughter blessed their union, Clayta, now Mrs. Carl Shoe of West Ohio street, Clinton, and her three children, Marilyn, Shirley Jean and Eugene, were a source of great pride and happiness to their grandfather. Mr. Keyes and his wife joined the First M. E. church after their marriage, and their church home was ever important and inspiring to them. He was also a member of the royal Arch in Masonry, the Eastern Star, and the Woodmen of the World for many years, and was planning to go as a delegate to a Royal Arch meeting in Jefferson City. Friday evening, however, he attended his last Masonic meeting in Clinton and there as elsewhere he will be greatly missed. Babe was a man of fine character and high principle, who had no bad habits and on whom his devoted family and friends depended as a source of strength and dispenser of kindness. He was loved by all who knew him, respected by others and was ready to meet his Maker, though the summons was sudden and the shock to those left behind hard to accept. Mr. Keyes is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Keyes, of McLane street, his widow, only daughter and three grandchildren, two brothers, D. W. Keyes of Clinton and P. C. Keyes of New Franklin, Mo. The funeral was conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at the First M. E. church by Rev. Olsen and interment with Masonic rites followed at Englewood. The body was borne to rest by Messrs. Dan Lovelace, Lawrence Maher, E. O. Romine, Dwight Sayles, Sandy Brandenburg and Carter Canan. Burial: Englewood Cemetery, Clinton Twp., Henry Co., MO.

Death Notice

Mr. Web Keyes, residing three miles east of town, died Sunday with cancer. His suffering for months is beyond description, and death came as a welcome messenger. He was a kind and accommodating neighbor, and whose demise is regretted by all who knew him. He leaves a widow and one daughter, Josephine, to mourn his loss. A brother, Lyman Keyes, of Missouri, was present at his death. The funeral services were held Tuesday at the residence of the deceased.

Obituary

<http://www.rootsweb.com/~mohenry/obituary/k02obit.htm>

Wilbur W. Keyes, deceased, aged 54 years and 22 days, was born at Pekin, Niagara County, State of New York, March 31st, 1851, and died of cancer in the mouth and throat at eleven o'clock a.m., on Sunday, April 23d, 1905. He leaves a widow, a daughter, Josie, a step daughter, Mrs. Nellie Coston and her daughter Ethel, an aged invalid mother, a brother, Lyman of Clinton, MO., and two sisters, Mrs. James Powers, of Climax and Mrs. H.O. Cline of Lansing, Mich., to mourn their loss. When but a few months old his parents moved upon the farm he occupied until death. At an early age the death of his father, Rev. Orlando Keyes, late Chaplain of the 12th Michigan Veteran Volunteer Infantry, threw him suddenly and unexpectedly into life's battles with no armament only bare hands and an inherited aptness and mother wit. His has been a life of incessant, untiring toil and of unusual, faithful industry. He took pride in being honest, honorable, frank and just in all his dealings and affairs, which, together with a congenial affable nature, won the confidence, admiration and respect of all who had to do with him. No one regretted their mistakes and shortcomings more than he. He was ready and desired to pass out with no other preparation than the feeling and consciousness that he had always done his best. We feel safe in vouching that he felt that his dear wife and daughter bore their incessant, unflinching duty and care during his long painful suffering with a fortitude that can not be to highly commended.

Noble boy, thy spiritual unfoldment rewards thee with rest, love, peace and satisfaction in an eternal, continuous, progressive life where the wounds and scars of life's mistakes are obliterated in the lessons and promptings they bring.

The funeral was held at the house Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. N. Hilborn officiating. Interment in the Averill cemetery. (NOTE: Averill Cemetery is also known as the Gilson Cemetery and West Climax Cemetery, at Climax, Kalamazoo Co, MI.)

Harold William “Harry” Leggett

(A few notes in lieu of a formal obituary)

[Son of Clyfford Arthur and Helen Mary (Barnes) Leggett; born Christmas Day 1924; died March 26, 2020, husband of Mary Madelyn “Midge” Smith Leggett]

Harry passed away at home a Solana Beach, California, during his 95th year. He and his brother Don had enlisted in the US Army in February 1943. They spent 6 months in basic training at Fort Bliss, Texas, and were assigned to the 113th AAA Gun Battalion. Don was in battery D and Harry was in battery A. In August 1943 they sailed from the USA and landed in Oran, Algeria, where they spent almost a year moving across North Africa. From there they went to England and on into France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Germany.

Being a “bastard” battalion, they were never permanently assigned to any army; however, at one time or another we were temporarily assigned to the 1st Army, Patton’s 3rd Army in both North Africa and Europe, and the 9th Army as well as the 101st Airborne Division. In November 1945 they shipped out of Marseille, France, for the USA and were discharged in December 1945. Their most relaxing time during the war was the few weeks they were in Paris. The most trying time had to be the winter of 1944/45 in Belgium during the Battle of the Bulge.

After the war Harry married Mary Madelyn “Midge” Smith, who had been waiting for his return, on June 29, 1946. He had proposed by letter while overseas and they were married at the Queen of the Miraculous Medal Catholic Church in Jackson, Michigan. Harry then attended Michigan State University, and in 1951 began his life’s career working for the US government, from which he retired in 1976.

The Leggetts raised three children and had six grandchildren, ten great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren. Volunteering at St. Vincent de Paul Center and Eucharistic Ministry at St. James kept Harry and Midge very busy for nearly 20 years.

Both Harry and Midge were interred at the Miramar National Cemetery, located at the Marine Corps Air Station Miramar in San Diego, California [formerly the Naval Air Station (NAS) Miramar].

Mary Madelyn "Midge" Smith Leggett
(A few notes in lieu of a formal obituary)

[Daughter of Martin and Mabel (Raymond) Smith; born July 21, 1925; died April 18, 2019, wife of Harold William "Harry" Leggett]

Mary Madelyn Smith Leggett passed away after a short stay at Skripps Memorial Hospital in LaJolla, California, in her 93rd year.

Madelyn was born Mary Madelyn Smith. She sometimes went by M. Madelyn and also Madelyn M. She was usually simply called "Midge." WW II took her boyfriend Harry Leggett away for three years while Midge sang for the troops with the USO Stateside. During those years there was a string of love letters...including a marriage proposal.

After the war, Harry came home and on June 29, 1946, Mary Madelyn Smith became Mary Madelyn Leggett at Queen of the Miraculous Medal Catholic Church in Jackson, Michigan. Over the next four years while Harry attended Michigan State to obtain his college degree, Midge worked as a legal secretary to help support them both, after graduating from Jackson Business University. Together their "journey of love" would last nearly 73 years, taking them from Michigan to Marin and then San Diego counties, California.

No matter what happened in the world on any particular day, Midge always prepared a meal for her family, and she along with Harry always made dinnertime a very enjoyable and educational experience, while at the same time imparting the importance of Manners. Dinnertime was full of whimsical stories and lots of laughter that was always the balm to sooth any of the day's wounds. Love was always present. Always....

Midge worked as a stay at home mom and wife, guiding and encouraging her three children with unselfish love through the turbulent times known as the "sixties"...and then the seventies and the eighties...etc. Always giving back, she volunteered in the library at St. Isabella's Elementary School. As her children moved on to high school, she typed the monthly newsletter "Chatterlog" for Marin Catholic High School. She strongly supported our troops during the Vietnam War and proudly wore Captain Rice's copper MIA band for many years before finally sending it back when he returned. The couple volunteered at St. Vincent de Paul Center and Eucharistic Ministry at St. James for nearly 20 years.

Harry and Midge's family grew to six grandchildren, ten great grandchildren and seven great-great grandchildren. All benefited from Midge's grace and strength of spirit. They learned that their Grandma and Nana always had a warm hug and a ready ear to hear any of their troubles and always knew they could trust her to keep anything told in confidence to stay with her and her alone. Trust; you always knew you could trust Midge, Aunt Midge, Mom, Grandma and Nana. No matter your age or trouble Midge was always ready to listen and fight on your behalf.

Martin Luther King's "I have a dream" speech and "God is Love," as well as a picture of Jesus were proudly displayed on the bulletin board that hung on the wall above the kitchen table.

Madelyn's funeral was held on Friday April 26, 2019, at St. James Catholic Church, Solana Beach, California. Much of the information for Midge's above write-up was provided by a eulogy read by her children Kim, Hal and Trisha at that service. Both she and Harry were interred at the Miramar National Cemetery, located at the Marine Corps Air Station Miramar in San Diego, California [formerly the Naval Air Station (NAS) Miramar].

information used in the Barnes and Related Families Abridged Genealogical RECORD, which was informally published in 1976.

To: Chief Steward Ira A. Moore

IT'S EVENING TIDE

The storm of life still,
It's evening tide.
Great waves, now ripples, trill
The shore and hide
In silence its rage,
Its tempest against earth's stage.

The storm of life still,
It's evening tide.
New Chief, sails unfurled fill
With new untried
Winds to reach the shore,
Your beacon light, "Pappy" Moore.

The storm of life still,
It's evening tide,
Retiring. May God will
The dawn to guide
You in eternal fame
With fond mem'ries for your name.

The storm of life still,
Retire as thy will, beside,
It's Evening Tide.

The following article appeared in the Jackson (Michigan) Citizen Patriot newspaper on Friday, January 10, 1958:

SMP CHIEF STEWARD ENDS 29-YEAR TENURE

Ira A. "Pappy" Moore, who since 1952 has been putting out 18,000 meals daily for the inmates at Southern Michigan prison, hung up his apron and put away his calorie chart Thursday, ending 29 years of service at the institution.

He was honored at a luncheon in the prison officers' dining room Thursday.

Mr. Moore, who lives at 210 E. Palmer, was born in September, 1886, on a farm in Carroll county, Indiana, and lived there as a farmer until 1925. That year he went to work at the Indiana reformatory at Pendleton and remained there until 1929, when he came to SMP.

He began as a guard at the local institution and served in a number of assignments, chiefly in the dining room. In 1940 he was named assistant steward and immediately after the riot in 1952 he was named chief steward.

Pappy has served under nine wardens at the prison beginning under Harry Jackson. In his 29 years of service at the institution he has been absent because of sickness on only one day.

As chief steward, Mr. Moore has supervised the daily preparation of meals in the large prison kitchen, within the walls, the hospital kitchen, the 16 block kitchen and the five kitchens on the trustee farms.

Mr. Moore plans to move to Orlando, Fla. in the near future.

Lieutenant William James Nixon

(A few notes)

[Born November 13, 1933, died April 27, 1978, husband of Doris Ann (McNickle) Nixon]

Lieutenant William "Jim" Nixon was a policeman in Jackson, Michigan, and was killed in the line of duty. A park at the northeast corner of North and Cooper streets in Jackson was rededicated and renamed in his honor on May 2, 1978. The park is now called the "William J. Nixon Memorial Park." It had originally been dedicated in 1976 as the “North-Cooper Recreational Park.” Before that it was part of the St. John’s Catholic school campus. (<http://www.odmp.org/officer/9971-lieutenant-william-james-nixon>)

Charles Orlando Page

[Born July 31, 1878, at Climax, Kalamazoo Co., MI, and at age one year suffered from and survived diphtheria during an epidemic that killed three of his five siblings; died September 18, 1941, at Jackson, Jackson Co., MI; son of Riley Preston and Sarah M. (Keyes) Page; husband of Maude Annabelle (Castner), and later, Florence L. “Big Betty” (Peck) Deaver Squier.]

From Howard O. Paige’s Auto-Biography of 1993:

“Looking back on the early days of my home environs, I see my dad, we called him Papa, as a quiet, friendly, patient and good-natured man, devoted to his home and family. My brother and I sat out on the front lawn watching for him to come walking home from work so we could run and grab his hand and walk the rest of the way home with him. He seemed capable to handle any job that suggested itself whether as a carpenter, a mechanic, a plumber or whatever. He enlarged the Michigan basement to accommodate a fruit cellar with shelves for canned food and a large bin to hold a winter supply of potatoes. He built cupboards and tool cabinet in the garage with a lock to give him control of the contents. Later, when he got his first car (a Briscoe Roadster), it was his Sunday delight to tinker with it to assure it would run OK for a whole week. I don’t remember hearing him raise his voice in anger at any time, if he did he kept it private.

“The ‘garage’ was originally a barn for a horse and buggy. On top of the slanting roof was a wren house up on a stick invariably loaded with wrens. In front of the barn was the largest tree in the area, we called it a poplar but it could have been a cottonwood. Downtown, up in the Reynolds building, you could see the top of it above all others. The avalanche of leaves each fall provided all the delight (and raking) any boy could ask for. In back of the barn between the barn and cemetery fence was a large willow tree, swell for one to perfect his tree climbing ability.

“Us kids learned a trick of taking a thread spool, cutting notches around the edge, then winding string around the spool and running a nail through the middle for an axle. We could hold it against a window and pull the string and hear such a noise that would scare the daylight out of the most stalwart person. Dad always sat by the living room lamp and read his weekly Colliers and smoked his pipe after supper, his leg often cocked up over the arm of his favorite rocker. Such it was one summer evening when we were out after dark and saw Dad through the bay window. It became imperative that we try out our new “tic-tac.” We gave it the fatal spin and poor Dad landed on both feet running and we took off through the neighbor’s yard laughing so hard that we simply could not run and when Dad caught up with us he was won over by the laughter; I can’t remember any punishment but I don’t remember what became of the tic-tac either!

“I remember visiting Dad on the job when he was clerking in a dry-goods store called “Fletcher & Alderman.” He was selling yard goods which people bought to make dresses, etc. The next place he worked was at the Acme Paint and Varnish store on Mechanic Street, next to the present Elaine Shop building. Later he worked in for a while at George Nichols Wallpaper and Paint store; later, working out from there, hanging wallpaper and painting interiors and still later contracting on his own, using a small truck he equipped with ladders and other tools permanently mounted inside. I believe his early demise at age 65 was caused by lead poisoning from the then lead-based paint. (Geo. Nichol’s store was where the “Crouch Center” is now.)”

[Charles Page fell while painting and suffered a grievous injury. While still bedridden with this malady he died of arteriosclerosis at age 63. He also may have had lead poisoning, a common ailment of painters those days. Lead poisoning was what took the life of his former brother-in-law Almon Castner. Charles was cremated, and there is no known gravesite for him. His son Howard thought that Marshal and Esther Page may have buried or emptied the urn at the “Old Rugged Cross” that had been erected for religious purposes at the back of Howard’s farm on Wooster Road, Jackson Co., MI.]

Robert Smock, professor emeritus of sociology at UM-Dearborn, died Feb. 25 [2006]. He was 80.

DEARBORN---Robert B. Smock, professor emeritus of sociology at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, died Feb. 25 in Plymouth, Mich. He was 80 years old.

Smock taught and held senior administrative positions at UM-Dearborn for 27 years and retired in 1990. He joined UM-Dearborn as assistant professor of sociology and director of the campus's Center for Urban Studies in 1963.

He helped develop UM-Dearborn's sociology curriculum and taught a wide variety of courses in human ecology and demography, American social classes, principles of sociology, comparative religions, and personality and society. He was promoted to associate professor in 1965 and to professor in 1968.

Smock's research focused on demography, human ecology and urban sociology, and his publications included a monthly newsletter titled "Metro Motown," as well as a textbook on human ecology.

"He was able to integrate his ongoing research interests in the area of urban studies and created a dynamic classroom environment in which students had opportunities to study the process of urbanization as that process was actually occurring," the U-M Regents noted in their memorandum naming Smock professor emeritus.

Smock was born in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1925, and earned his bachelor's degree from Adrian College in 1946. He worked as a social worker, Methodist minister, and research assistant before receiving his master's degree in 1953 and his doctorate in sociology in 1962 from Wayne State University.

While in graduate school, he was associate director of the Detroit Area Traffic Study, where he played a major role in planning highway development in the Detroit area.

In addition to his teaching and research, Smock held major administrative positions at UM-Dearborn as the campus made the transition during the late 1960s and early 1970s from a two-year "senior college" enrolling a few hundred students to a comprehensive university enrolling thousands.

"He was charged with the task of overseeing the academic development of the campus as it began this expansion," the Regents noted. "In this and other administrative assignments, Professor Smock was always willing to serve when needed, giving concrete evidence of his loyalty, resourcefulness and commitment to the campus.

Smock also served as chair of the Department of Behavioral Sciences, and at the time of his retirement was acting director of the Office of Institutional Research.

“My father was a man of intelligence, imagination, and curiosity,” according to his son, Adam Smock. “In his personal writings, with the trained mind of a sociologist, he referred to himself as ‘a repository of a revelation of life of middle-class, middle-American men in the late 20th century.’ Yet his life was anything but middling.”

Smock’s body was donated to the U-M Medical School, his final wish, according to his son. “He spent much of his life teaching everyone around him and giving everyone the opportunity to learn,” Adam said. “He continued this mission right through the very end.”

Smock is survived by his wife, Frances Wilson Villeneuve, whom he met as an undergraduate at Adrian College and married 42 years later. Other survivors include a brother, Dick; children David, Mardi Black, John and Adam; stepdaughter Trisha Stock; nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by daughter Sarbeth in 1997.

A memorial service will be held in Plymouth, Mich. in June. The family is gathering thoughts, memories and stories at www.smockfiles.com/rbs. Memorial contributions can be sent to the Public Research Interest Group in Michigan at 103 E. Liberty, Suite 202, Ann Arbor MI 48104; or to the Greater Michigan chapter of the Alzheimer’s Association at 20300 Civic Center, Suite 100, Southfield MI 48076.

Jacob W. Welter

The Ovid Register-Union, November 16, 1899

Son of William and Ann (Bird) Welter and [probably related to Sarah and Sophia Welter]

Jacob W. Welter, who departed this life Nov. 8, 1899 was born in Morris Co., N.J., Dec 1, 1815. He went to the state of New York to reside in 1839, and three years later married Emily Sayre of Yates County.

Four children blessed this union of whom three, and an aged wife survive, one son, Bruce K., having sacrificed his life for his country in 1862. The surviving children are Mrs. F. E. Bearce, M. S. Welter and M. L. Welter all of Ovid, Mich. Mr. Welter was converted in 1839 and united with the Baptist church and has continued to be a devoted member during his life. In 1860 he joined the Baptist Church at Ovid as a charter member and the same year joined the Baptist Church at Shepardsville as a charter member, and soon after the dedication of the present structure which occurred in 1871 he was elected Deacon which position he has filled acceptably and continuously until his death. During this period he has a part of the time served his church as its clerk. He loved church and paid freely for its support. Mr. Welter with his family removed to Michigan in 1854, locating in St. Joseph county. In 1856 he removed to Clinton county where has resided to the present time. He was indeed a pioneer undergoing many privations incident to a life in a new country. He was upright and honorable in all his ways. In his death the community has lost a kind friend and an excellent citizen.

NOTE: Sarah (Welter) Castner and Sophia (Welter) Potter were sisters. It is strongly believed that they were closely related to Jacob Welter, perhaps first cousins. This has been assumed due to a large amount of circumstantial evidence regarding their movements across the country. However, final proof is still pending.
